Western Powers Ready to Quit Big 4 Conference

About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHEUS T.

THIS AND THAT: Just in case you kiddies want to know in advance, Friday, Feb. 12, is Lincoln's birthday, a legal holiday, and the Saline County Teachers Institute will be Friday, Feb. 26.

I was reading something in Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine, that I wanted to know. Here's the question: Is it necessary to rinse clothes if they are washed with synthetic detergents?

The magazine quotes the National Bureau of Standards as saying that the residue of synthetic detergents will not harm the fabric and will not cause the material to turn yellow or to scorch when ironed. The bureau points out, however, that rinsed clothes are cleaner than unrinsed ones because dirt is carried off in suspension in the rinse water.

How glad I am to know. Next time I shampoo my curly locks with detergent I'll rinse my hair good, even if it takes all day for it to dry.

KENNETH DAVIS was telling about a friend who, disturbed by all the articles on tobacco and cancer, has decided to quit—reading.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT: Here's your geography lesson for today: Hollywood is a place where you live happily and get married forever afterward. And your auto mechanics lesson: What some of us need is more horsepower and not so much exhaust. Anatomy lesson: A man sometimes will devote his whole life to developing one part of his body—the wishbone. Lesson in agriculture: In order to live off a garden you practically have to live in it.

FRIENDS OF the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cable have received an announcement of the opening of offices in Washington, D. C., by William H. Kessenich, M. D., Dr. Kessenich, known as "Billy" when he visited Harrisburg on several occasions a few years ago, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kessenich, his mother being the former Pauline Cable.

WEATHER OBSERVANCE: Every once in a while I have to look at my almanac calendar and see what the weather is going to be. Not that it makes any difference. Whether the temperature is 60 or zero, whether there's six inches of snow or dry terra firma, I'll probably be doing the same things. Coming to work, etc.

But I have to know just for the heck of it and I'll pass a little info on to you.

According to the calendar, there was either rain or snow yesterday and today it's unsettled. Saturday will be blustery and Sunday there will be snow or rain. I don't know whether or not I'm going to stand all that rain! But every cloud has a silver lining. The calendar says it'll be fair Monday, milder Tuesday and pleasant Wednesday. For the sake of alliteration, I was hoping it would be windy Wednesday. But it will be windy Thursday.

PARTING HUMOR: A nagging wife, relenting bought her husband two ties as a birthday gift.

Finding them on his dresser the husband put one on and made a grand entrance to breakfast.

"Humph," snorted the wife, "so you didn't like the other one."

Scott Base Pilot Killed in Crash

O'FALLON, Mo. (UP) — An Air Force pilot was killed when his F51 fighter crashed and exploded in a field near here Thursday.

The victim was identified as Lt. Neil A. Hadley, 23, son of Mrs. Lillie Clara Peterson of Webb, Iowa. He was attached to the 5th Fighter - Interceptor Squadron at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville, Ill.

Eyewitnesses said Hadley's plane, flying in a flight of three fighters, went into a spin, leveled out about 500 feet above ground and then plunged to the earth, burying itself about four feet into the ground.

Wreckage was scattered 150 yards.

American Who Fled Red Prison Leaves for U. S.

John Hvasta, 26,
Refuses to Talk
To Newspapermen

MUNICH, Germany (UP) — John Hvasta, 26-year-old American who fled a Czechoslovak prison and eluded capture by the Communists for 21 months, left for his Hillside, N. J. home today via Zurich, Switzerland and London.

The hero of a fantastic adventure behind the Iron Curtain, left here at 12:45 p. m. in a Swiss air liner. Among those bidding him farewell was Jaroslav Bures, one of five other anti-Communists who escaped with him from the grim Leopoldov prison in Bratislava, Czechoslovakia.

Hvasta was due to fly from London at 7 p. m. London time for New York, due at Idlewild International Airport Saturday morning. Still nervous after his ordeal, Hvasta refused to talk to the 30 newsmen and photographers gathered to see him off, despite a press conference which the American consulate had arranged.

Sentenced By Reds
Hvasta remained silent also at Zurich, where his plane arrived for a brief pause on its way to London. By special request of the American consulate general in Zurich, Swiss police refused to permit newsmen near the plane.

The young Czech-born, naturalized American had served in the Navy and then gone back to Czechoslovakia to study under the GI bill of rights. The Reds had sentenced him to prison as a spy. With his companions, he had escaped through a hole in the prison wall. For 21 months he had eluded the Communist secret police. Last Oct. 2, he had managed to slip into the American Embassy in Prague. There he had been sheltered until, by negotiation with the Red government, he was permitted to leave Thursday.

Homeward Bound
Hvasta chatted in the airport lounge with his old cellmate Bures. The other passengers boarded the plane. The loudspeaker announced the plane was about to take off. Hvasta sprinted to the plane.

A stewardess slammed the door, the plane took off and Hvasta was homeward bound.
Hvasta came to Munich from Nuernberg this morning in a car with two State Department officials.

He was kept hidden here until plane time.

The two U. S. officials who accompanied Hvasta were identified as Nat King, Laredo, Tex., counselor of the Prague Embassy, and John D. Iams, Tulsa, Okla., first secretary.

King and Iams told United Press Staff Correspondent Harold Melahn in Nuernberg that Hvasta did not

State Officials Offer Confusing Explanations About Stamping of Books

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — State officials who stamped Hans Christian Andersen "for adults only" weren't trying to protect the kiddies from the immortal Danish story-teller, they said today.

They were protecting Andersen from the children.

A spokesman for the state library said a 100-year-old volume of Andersen's classic fairy tales was stamped to save it from the grimy fingers of grade school youngsters. That didn't explain why the state library also gave the red ink treatment to "Pilgrim's Progress," "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," "Alexander Botts the Tractor Salesman" and many other books, many of them classic like Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice."

But there was an explanation. In fact, several of them.

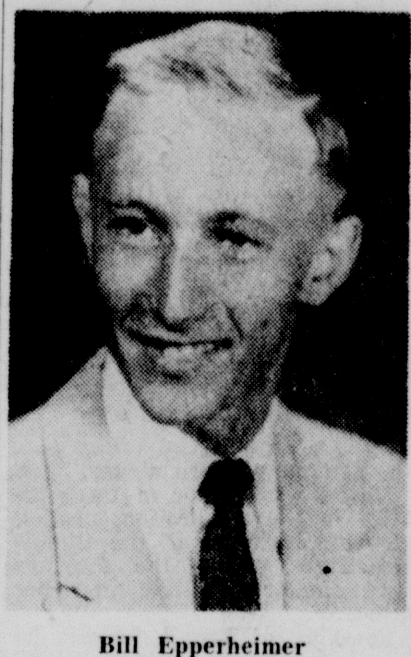

Carpenter Explains
Secretary of State Charles Carpenter, who is also state librarian, said in Chicago he was "following standard practice" and professional librarians would laud him.

He said that all books marked "Y" in the standard catalogue of fiction, is a library science reference, which means they are meant for readers over 13-years-old, and all books not in the catalogue were stamped.

"The flags we put in books are to help inexperienced librarians follow standard practice," he said.

He said that books like "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" — Jules Verne's science fiction thriller of the last century — would now have to be stamped "Y," also, meaning

Bill Epperheimer Wins Elks Essay Contest

Bill Epperheimer

Bill Epperheimer, Harrisburg Township high school senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Epperheimer, has been announced the winner of the annual Elks Essay contest by Gene Schierle, Youth Activity chairman of B. P. O. Elks Lodge No. 1053, with Dorothy Stille, also of the HTHS, winning second, and Joan Bramlet of Eldorado third.

Bill will receive $25 and the opportunity of representing this community in the district contest made up of 17 southern Illinois cities. The winner of the district will get an $850 scholarship and an opportunity to represent the district in the state contest and a chance to win $400. Miss Stille will receive $15 and Miss Bramlet $10 as second and third place prizes.

"Communism—A Disease of Nations," was the subject used by the contestants from Miss Velma Ogg's and John Schork's senior English classes at the HTHS competing with Eldorado and Carrier Mills high schools. The essays were required to be of 300 words or less in length and judges for the contest were selected by Schierle.

Last year's district winner was Catherine Klein of Harrisburg. James Crawford, Harrisburg, won the district contest the preceding year and placed second in the state.

Rites at Eldorado Saturday 11 a. m. for Finis A. McClane, 70

Finis A. McClane, 70, former resident of Eldorado, died yesterday in Detroit, Mich.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Martha Thiz, Mrs. Pauline Franks, Miss Margaret McClane, and one son, Clarence, all of Detroit, Mich.

The body arrived in Eldorado this morning on the New York Central and was received by the Martin funeral home where the body will lie in state. The funeral will be held at the funeral home Saturday at 11 a. m., and burial will be in Cottage Grove cemetery.

Seven Injured When B&O Limited Hits Locomotive

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's 13-car National Limited, bound from St. Louis to New York, sideswiped a Diesel switching locomotive today at Wilsmer, six miles southwest of here, injuring seven persons.

The injured included four crewmen, two U. S. postal employees and one passenger. No one was killed.

The engineer of the National Limited, C. R. Snapp, Chester, Pa., was not hurt in the collision. A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad investigator said the switching locomotive was pulling out of a siding onto the main line just before the National Limited was due to pass.

"He got too close to the main line and struck the locomotive of the National a glancing blow," the investigator said.

The injured passenger, Fred Hinkle, 44, Hathorn, Pa., was taken to Delaware Hospital here with a possible fracture of the pelvis.

Nine Convicts Flee Alabama Prison

ATMORE, Ala. (UP) — The order "shoot to kill" — was passed down today to a posse searching south Alabama for nine convicts who escaped from Atmore prison by walking through an electric conduit tunnel.

Warden S. W. Hixon told members of the search party not to take any chances with the fugitives but to bring them in "dead or alive."

The men, all long-term convicts, made their break for freedom Thursday night and were believed to be traveling in a green Plymouth driven by the wife of one of the fugitives.

Accuse Russia Of Seeking to Extend Frontier

Big Three Ministers Agree to Reject Soviet Election Plan

BERLIN (UP) — The United States today accused Russia of attempting, in the Big Four foreign ministers' conference, to push the Soviet sphere frontier westward from the Elbe to the Rhine river.

That, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was told, was the West's reaction to the Kremlin blueprint he presented Thursday for reuniting Germany.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned Molotov that "it is late, but not too late" to seriously try to reach an agreement on Germany.

His remarks were viewed as a hint the West might be getting ready to pull out of the conference.

Molotov, in Thursday's discouraging conference session, rejected the West's proposals for free all-German elections as a first step toward reuniting the divided country.

Instead, Molotov proposed formation of a provisional all-German government, before elections are held and withdrawal of all occupation troops prior to the elections.

This, the West said, would be the equivalent of an invitation to the Communists to gobble up all Germany.

The Western Big Three foreign ministers agreed, prior to the opening of today's formal conference session, to reject the Soviet "peace" and elections plan.

Prepare Replies
The three Western foreign ministers held a noon meeting at the British high commissioner's residence to prepare their replies to Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov's German proposals.

They agreed that:

1. The five-point plan put forward by Molotov Thursday is unacceptable in every way and must be rejected outright.

2. The East-West deadlock on Germany is so complete that there no longer is any hope of reaching agreement in the present conference on German unity or a peace treaty.

3. The West will refuse any face-saving device such as turning over the Molotov plan to experts for further discussion, if the Russians should make such a proposal.

Molotov's impossible demands and the West's refusal to consider them meant that the Big Four foreign ministers' conference was all but dead.

A high conference source said the time had come for finding that further debate on German unification was useless at this time.

Democratic Leaders Arm With 'Truth Kits' to Combat McCarthy Charges

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy Thursday night invited Democrats who are "loyal Americans" to join the Republicans and escape the "idiocy," "rot" and "slime" of their own party.

The Wisconsin senator began a transcontinental tour with a Lincoln Day speech here which was the first of nine he will deliver within eight days. He speaks tonight at Canton, Ohio.

Democratic leaders here, at Canton and in other cities on his itinerary were armed with "truth kits" distributed by the Democratic National Committee in an effort to meet his anticipated charges head-on with "facts."

The national committee announced in Washington today that the "truth kits"—including a 16-page "fact sheet" and two articles from the Democratic Digest—were prepared because McCarthy tends to be "considerably more careless with the truth" when he goes on tour.

The Democratic strategy recalled the use of a four-man "truth squad" by the Republicans during the 1952 presidential campaign. The squad trailed former President Harry S. Truman on his whistle-stop tour, holding news conferences or making speeches to answer his assertions.

McCarthy told his audience Thursday night that the label "Democrat" is "stitched with the idiosyncrasy of a Truman, rotted by the deceit of an Acheson, corrupted by the Red slime of a White."

Those who wear the label, he said, "wear it with the stain of a historic betrayal; wear it with the corrosion of unprecedented corruption; wear it with the blood of dying men who crawled up the hills of Korea while the politicians in the Democratic Party wrote invitations to the Communists to join them at the United Nations."

McCarthy said the "millions of

Death Takes Mrs. Orlie Blackman, 62, Of Carrier Mills

Mrs. Anna Lee Blackman, 62, Carrier Mills, died in the Methodist hospital in Rochester, Minn., Thursday at 2:10 p. m.

The body, which will be returned to Carrier Mills and be received by the Miller funeral home, will probably arrive Saturday.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Orlie Blackman who died Oct. 1, 1947.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Arnold, Carrier Mills, and Mrs. Lorene Woodruff, Carmi; one grandson, Ronald Arnold, Carrier Mills; one sister, Mrs. Lucy Ralph, Mount City; one brother, George Pankey, Carrier Mills; one half brother, Elvis Dempsey, Carrier Mills, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Chammess, Harrisburg.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Bank Loans $576,000 on Counterfeit Bonds

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Hotel operator Albert M. Fein borrowed a total of $576,000 from four local banks before he learned the collateral he posted consisted of counterfeit bonds, his attorney said Thursday.

Fein's lawyer, Maurice Schechter, said Fein acquired the phony bonds as security for a $120,000 loan to a man he knew only as a "Texas oil man."

The bonds were discovered to be counterfeit when one of the banks concerned noticed a discrepancy in printing between the genuine securities and the fakes.

Schechter said Fein would pay back $270,000 in outstanding loans himself. A total of $306,000 already had been paid back to two of the banks before the securities were found to be worthless last Monday.

The bogus securities were forgeries of convertible debentures of the Kerr-McGee Oil Industries Inc., an Oklahoma oil firm headed by Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.).

The "oil man," Schechter said, was introduced to Fein by a gambler friend he long had known and trusted.

Both men have since disappeared, he said.

GOP Chairman Hits Talk Of Depression

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today "the left wing in America regards a depression as its one-way ticket into power."

He chided CIO President Walter Reuther, Adlai E. Stevenson, and Sens. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) and Wayne Morse (Ind.-ore.) for talks about an economic recession.

"... this quartet rides like the four horsemen spreading gloom and doom across the land," Hall told the GOP National Committee.

The GOP leader said "legitimate discussion of economic conditions is always valid and proper," but Americans cannot "condone the reckless utterances of a mere handful of reckless men."

Hall wondered whose interests "these left wingers think they are serving by their incessant talk of slump, recession and depression."

He said they were silent in 1949 and 1950 when there were 4,700,000 unemployed—twice the number today.

"And when they did talk they talked about full employment, omitting the scare words that they now employ," Hall added.

On party matters, Hall expressed keen disappointment at being unable to find more government jobs for the GOP faithful.

Record GOP Budget

Except for speeches and pep talks, the committee had only routine business to transact today. The climax will come tonight when the Republicans will stage their $1.50 Lincoln Day box supper at Uline Arena with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower as guests of honor.

Mr. Eisenhower will make a brief informal speech, as will several other Republican dignitaries. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was listed as the principal speaker at a luncheon meeting of the national committee.

Thursday, the finance committee approved a record-breaking budget of $3,800,000 for the 1954 congressional campaign. This compares with $1,950,000 budgeted in 1950, the last off-year election, and $6,600,000 in the presidential election year of 1952.

The 1954 funds will be distributed among the Senate and House campaign committees and the national committee. The objective is to elect a Republican majority in both houses in the congressional elections next November.

Search Ohio River For 2 Missing Men

CAIRO, Ill. (UP) — Sheriff John Barnett of Pulaski County said today a search has been started along the Ohio River for two Kentucky men missing since Tuesday.

Barnett said Ernest L. Stroughmatt, 28, and his brother, Ernest, 17, started across the river Tuesday in their motorboat for Mound City from their home on the opposite river bank.

A fisherman found clothing and personal effects of the men on an old barge Thursday afternoon. Barnett said the men's boat may have developed trouble and they tried to swim the river back to Kentucky.

Barnett said the river would not be dragged because authorities did not know where to start such operations.

Would Apply To All Non-Local Letters

House Group Also Approves 7-Cent Air Mail Stamps

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Post Office committee today approved a bill to boost postal revenues about 250 million dollars a year by providing for a four-cent stamp on all non-local letters and boosting air mail stamps one penny to seven cents.

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Democratic Whip John R. McCormack (Mass.) protested today that the Republican-sponsored four-cent stamp is "just another tax on the people."

He predicted that a "great majority" of Democrats will oppose it when it comes up for a vote in the House.

Republican leaders concede that there is "considerable opposition" among their own members and are wary of any attempts to predict the outcome.

The four-cent plan, a key provision of President Eisenhower's politically explosive request for a 250-million-dollar boost in postal rates, was approved by the House Post Office committee Thursday under administration pressure. The vote was 13 to 9.

No Change in Local Mail
It provides for a penny increase—from three to four cents—on the first ounce of first class mail for out-of-town delivery. There would be no change in the three-cent charge for "local mail."

The committee, considering an administration-sponsored bill behind closed doors, met again today to act on other phases of the President's request.

These include a seven-cent air-mail stamp, instead of six, to bring in an estimated $15,600,000 more a year. The President also asked for hikes in second class publishers' rates and third class circular mail to bring in another 76-million-dollars annually.

Condition of Pope Weakens

VATICAN CITY (UP) — The general condition of Pope Pius XII has weakened, the first official medical bulletin by his physician said today.

Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi said the 77-year-old pontiff was suffering from the "symptoms of gastritis" and had a slight fever. He said the Pope's condition was weakened because he has difficulty in taking nourishment.

However, the doctor added that the Pope's heart was in good condition and the hiccup which accompanied the stomach trouble vanished three days ago.

The medical analysis was published in the Vatican City newspaper Osservatore Romano because of world-wide concern over the state of the Pope's health, Vatican sources said.

Vatican sources said earlier doctors were administering strengthening drugs to the Pope orally and through muscular injections.

Mother Critically Wounds Child, Self

CHICAGO (UP) — A 32-year-old mother shot one of her three children and then turned the gun on herself early today in an attempt to wipe out her entire family, police said.

The woman, Mrs. Marion Kramer, told police: "If I'd have had time I'd have killed everybody."

Both the child and Mrs. Kramer were wounded critically.

Police Chief Ray Peters, summoned to the home by her husband, Albert, 36, said that when asked why she did it the woman replied: "Ask my husband."

Kramer told Peters he and his wife "had no trouble" other than that most married people have.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Politics A Deadly Serious Business In Texas; Jockeying Already Under Way For 1956 National Conventions And Presidential Candidates; Sam Rayburn's Political Future At Stake.

DALLAS. — It's more than two years before the next national conventions meet to nominate the presidential candidates, but jock-eysing for position has already started in Texas where men are men and politics is a deadly serious business.

Behind the jockeying is the question of whether the Democrats nominate Adlai Stevenson or a liberal Democrat in 1956, and whether the Shiverscrats and the Eisenhow-ers who bolted the Democratic party in 1952 are brought back into the fold with a big abrazo and a kiss on both cheeks.

Also at stake to some extent is the political future of the most revered man in the state, ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn, who has served in Congress for 40 years and sponsored some of the most important New Deal legislation.

The 72-year-old Rayburn, his head as barren as a billiard ball but his political outlook as young as when he put across the Securities Exchange Commission and the Holding Corporation Act, has vowed he would never forgive the handsome young Governor Allan Shivers who, Sam says, double-crossed him at Chicago.

At Chicago, Governor Shivers told Sam he would not bolt to Eisenhower and then turned round and proceeded to do exactly that.
So the venerable Rayburn says he will never let Shivers back into the Democratic party.

SHIVERS WANTS BACK

Meanwhile, Shivers is making plenty of signs that he wants back.
He has made several speeches,
most of them in the north, tossing the olive branch in the direction of the Democratic National committee, but his advances so far have not been reciprocated. Now, therefore, Shivers is getting tough.

Last week he threw out a hint that Sam Rayburn's congressional district might be redistricted. This means just exactly one thing—that Rayburn would have the fight of his life being re-elected, with an excellent chance of facing defeat.

Governor Shivers did not of course single out Sam Rayburn's district by name. He's far too smart for that. But every politician in Texas knew that he was laying down the gauntlet to "Mr.
Sam," as he's called in these parts, that either Shivers gets back into the Democratic party or else Sam runs the risk of being thrown out of Congress.

For Sam's district is the second smallest in the U. S. A. And with the population of reactionary, Republican Dallas pushing north in the direction of Rayburn's district, any redistricting by the Texas legislature would mean giving that district about 96,000 new anti-Rayburn votes.

Once last year, the Texas legislature began talking as if it was going to redistrict, whereupon Lyndon Johnson, Sam's onetime disciple who has now maneuvered himself into being Senate minority leader, told Sam not to worry.

Lyndon indicated that he would talk to Herman Brown, of Brown and Root, one of the biggest contracting firms in the U. S., for whom Lyndon has been a glorified messenger boy in Washington and from whom he has received plenty of campaign contributions. Brown and Root just received a multi-million dollar contract to help build U. S. bases in Spain; so they can afford to help out the young senator who has helped them.

At any rate Frank Oltorf, the paid lobbyist for Brown and Root in Washington, flew out to Austin, contacted Lieut. Gov. Ben Ramsay and told him Sam Rayburn's district was not to be touched.
Since Oltorf has paid a generous part of Ben Ramsay's campaign expenses when he ran for lieutenant governor, Ramsay listened.
Furthermore he promised that no redistricting bill would get out of committee for debate in the Texas legislature.

However, if Governor Shivers wants to get a redistricting bill out of committee in the March legislature that he talks about calling he won't have any real trouble doing so. And if he really wants to retaliate against Sam Rayburn that's what he will do.

So the betting is about even as to whether Rayburn will let the handsome young governor who ran out on him at Chicago come back into the Democratic fold.

SHIVERSCRATS COUNT ON JOHNSON

Probably the answer will be spelled out in part by the debonair Senator Johnson. Lyndon's position, as usual, is against a fight. He wants Shivers back in the party for several reasons. One of them being that the two have always worked hand-in-hand. Johnson built up a smooth-running political machine when he was elected in 1948, turned it over to Shivers when he ran in 1950. That machine should have been for Adlai Stevenson in 1952, but it wasn't.

When Adlai entered Texas during the campaign, Lyndon Johnson got aboard before it entered Dallas and told Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, chief Senate adviser to Adlai, that he wasn't going to participate in the campaign.

"It will hurt my re-election chances," he explained.

"You — — — — —" exploded Fulbright, and proceeded to give Senator Johnson such a bawling out that Johnson stayed with the campaign train, and later did deliver one speech over his wife's radio station for Stevenson. After that he went up to Missouri to campaign for Stuart Symington, keeping as far away from Texas as possible.

So Lyndon Johnson is now being counted on by the Shiverscrats to soft-soap and beguile his old friend Sam Rayburn into forgiving Shivers and welcoming him back into the Democratic party.

Meanwhile the Stevenson Democrats are warning Sam that if he

Going to Be 40 Years Old, Jack Benny Says

NEW YORK (AP)— Jack Benny made an announcement today. He's going to be "40."

The comedian, who has been 39
— or younger—since your old crystal set, told how he discovered and got used to the difficult idea in an article for Collier's magazine.

"Today I face the future fearlessly," Benny wrote, "convinced that, after 39 years of the best fruits of life, my next 39 years will be just as fruitful—and will last just as long."

In passing, Benny passed on some hints for avoiding 40:

Benny listed them this way:
"1. Before your 40th birthday keep circulating the story that you're 39. If people hear it often enough they'll believe it for years."
"2. When in the company of younger people, ask their advice

Powell's Ability As Speaker Praised By National Writer

The ability of Rep. Paul Powell, Vienna, as a speaker, was praised recently in one of a series of articles in The Saturday Evening Post, written by John Bartol Martin, nationally-known writer.

Martin was author of three articles in the publication, dealing with the activities of the Illinois Legislature, stating the activities were similar to those in other states.

Speaking of Powell, he said he was "a master at complex behind the scenes conniving and ... one of the most effective speakers in the House."

In it Martin said Powell is one of the few speakers in the Illinois House who, during debate, can actually change votes. He discussed at length the Democratic leader's part in securing approval for Gov.
William G. Stratton's reapportionment measure, while pledging himself at the same time to work for defeat of the reapportionment amendment at the polls.

Martin said Powell "achieved power with little education and through sheer native ability, proof that in the body of mediocre men in the legislature, an able one stands out."

Special Services On Christ at First Christian Church

The Rev. Glen Daugherty, minister of the First Christian church, announced today that during the coming weeks a special program entitled "Twelve Weeks With Christ" has been planned. Until April 18 all Sunday morning and Sunday evening services will be built around the one theme "Christ".

Rev. Daugherty's first Sunday morning subject will be "The Christ of Prophecy". Sunday by Sunday the life of Christ will be followed, leading up to "The Christ and His Resurrection" and "The Christ and His Second Coming". Sunday night messages will deal with Christ's solution of life's greatest problems with such subjects being discussed as "The Great 'I Am's' of Christ", "The Promises of Christ", "Faith in Christ", and "The Risen Life in Christ".

The church has spent two weeks in intensive preparation for this "Cruc-

Stock Market Is Approaching '30 High Levels

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, on a steady rise since the first of the year, is approaching the high levels of 1930.

The upward movement included industrials, rails and utilities. The general market average rose to a point where 1933 losses were all but eliminated.

Dow-Jones today set the industrial average at 294.03, only four cents under the 1930 high of 294.07. The average rise of 13.13 points since Jan. 1, has in this case, more than made up the 1933 loss of 11 points.

Another five cent rise would carry the industrial average to the highest level since Oct. 26, 1929. The all time high was 381.17, set on Sept. 30, 1929.

The railroad stock average rose to the best level since last August and was only a few points below the 1932 high of 112.53.

The rails stood at 157.94 for the top reading of 1930. They closed Thursday at an average of 103.04 making up 52 per cent of the 17.24 point decline during 1953.

Utilities are at a new high since 1931 after making up four times over the 56 cents they lost last year.

Wall Street experts credited a number of factors for the steady climb of stock prices this year.

They said the No. 1 factor was the move by Congress to lighten the burden of double taxation on dividends.

ICC Hearing on Free Phone Service at W. Frankfort Mar. 9

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Southern Illinois residents will get a chance to express their views on proposed elimination of free service between rural exchanges of General Telephone Co. March 9.

The Illinois Commerce Commission recessed hearings on the case Thursday and announced its next hearing would be March 9 in West Frankfort, to hear testimony from telephone users in that area.

General Telephone Co. now provides "free" service between some adjacent rural exchange areas. It seeks to replace this with toll charges.

The company says all subscribers in a free service area now must pay larger monthly base bills than those in exchanges which don't have this arrangement.

It argues that under a toll set-up, many customers would have smaller bills and only those who phone to nearby exchange areas would have to pay extra.

Some 50 subscribers from the Stark County area, a representative of the Stark County Farm Bureau, and Chenoa Farm Bureau members gave their objections to the plan at Thursday's hearing.

Eugene H. Rennie Jr., Toulon, said a survey indicated the removal of free service would boost bills of Stark County subscribers a total of $113,000 a year.

Turkish President Urges Universal Extension of NATO

CHICAGO (AP) — President Celal Bayar of Turkey called today for universal extension of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to unify the free world against Communist aggression.

Bayar addressed the Council on Foreign Relations and the American Council on NATO before departing for San Francisco after a 46-hour visit to Chicago.

He was introduced by Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and a guest of Bayar in Turkey during his world tour last year.

Bayar warned that if peace-loving nations fail to unite, and if they fail to make the sacrifices needed to thwart aggression, they will repeat the steps that led to World War II.

Ex-Gov. Green Subpoenaed as Gibbs Trial Witness

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Former Gov. Dwight H. Green today was among more than 50 persons subpoenaed as witnesses in the forthcoming "phantom payroll" trial of ex-state Rep. William F. Gibbs, Quincy.

Gibbs is scheduled to stand trial Feb. 15 on charges of grand larceny, forgery and operating a confidence game.

The government charges Gibbs cashed more than $17,000 in state highway payroll checks made out to fictitious names from 1943 to 1948.

Gibbs was indicted in December, 1950, after charges about the checks were exploded in the 1950 election campaign. The Quincy Democrat was defeated for re-election after serving 14 years in the Illinois House.

Gibbs never was brought to trial because the validity of the indictments was appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court, which upheld them and ordered the trial.

Green, governor during the period covered in the indictments, also was among those who testified before the grand jury which returned the charges against Gibbs.

American Who Fled Red Prison Leaves for U. S.

want to discuss his adventures yet. Anxious to Leave

They quoted him as saying he wanted to "wait until I get my breath and am back in the United States."

Both men said Hvasta "was certainly anxious to get out of Czechoslovakia."

"Two cars of Czech secret police escorted us all the way," King said. "The border formalities went quickly. Everything goes smoothly when the (Czech) government arranges things."

Hvasta carried a special passport issued to him in Prague.

Hvasta returned to Czechoslovakia in 1948 as a student. He worked for the U. S. consulate general in Bratislava for a brief period.

He was arrested by the Czechs a short time afterwards, charged with espionage, and sentenced to three years imprisonment. Later this was extended to 10 years.

Kept Busy in Embassy

The youth escaped from Leopoldov prison January 2, 1952, and evaded Czech security police for 21 months. He reached the U. S. Embassy in Prague Oct. 2, 1953.

"There are always secret police around the place," King said. "He waited until guards went up the street, then slipped in. We never asked him where he spent the previous 21 months. I personally thought he was dead, and no one in the Embassy had ever expected to see him again."

"We never wanted to know where he was during those 21 months because there are a lot of people back there who hid him and whose lives would be in danger if he talked."

"We put him to work in the Embassy to keep him busy," King said. Hvasta and five others escaped from prison after they discovered a hole in the prison wall while dismantling an old watch tower.

Still dressed in prison uniform, they ran to a small village about 500 yards away. There they split up in groups of three. Burek separated from Hvasta and crossed the Iron Curtain into West Germany.

In addition to the story of his 21-month odyssey, only Hvasta could confirm or deny a Vienna report that he was married to his Slovak sweetheart while in the Bratislava jail sometime in 1949.

Mrs. George Langford Hostess To McKinley Baptist Circle A

Mrs. George Langford was hostess to Circle A of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was opened with the song, "Jesus Saves," and with a prayer by Mrs. Carsa Gardner, after which the business session was held.

Mrs. Webb Yarbrough then led in prayer, and the song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," was sung. Mrs. Mollie Ervin offered prayer.

Mrs. Gardner gave the devotion taking her scripture from Psalms 33:12-21. Mrs. Guy Worthington gave a topic on the "Margaret Fund and Me" by Milton S. Leesh Jr. Mrs. Hugh Rann gave a topic on the subject "Ujovyes of the Islands" by Lloyd Corder. Closing prayer was by Mrs. Langford.

Refreshments of individual heart-shaped cakes, jello and punch, and heart-shaped candy were served to Mrs. Otis Reynolds Sr., Mrs. Guy Worthington, Mrs. Carsa Gardner, Mrs. Mollie Ervin, Mrs. Hugh Rann, Mrs. Kirt Gasaway, Mrs. Oscar Agin, Mrs. George Langford and two visitors, Mrs. Webb Yarbrough and Mrs. Langford's daughter, Barbara.

Dearing-Struck Engagement Is Announced

The engagement of Miss Eloise Dearing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Dearing of Galatia, to Jack Struck, son of Mr. Edna Struck of Murphysboro, was announced informally at a tea to a small group of friends and relatives Jan. 31 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dearing of Du Quoin.

Miss Patty Dearing, niece of the bride-elect, presented each guest with a miniature wedding bell attached to a small card inscribed with the names of the engaged couple.

Miss Dearing is a graduate of Galatia Community high school and is now employed in Carbondale, and Mr. Struck, who was discharged from the Air Force recently after serving three years in Germany, is now attending school in St. Louis, Mo.

Republicans and Democrats Argue Over Jobless

Gov't Witnesses Report 2,359,000 Are Unemployed

By United Press
Republicans and Democrats argued today over whether 2,359,000 or 3,573,000 Americans are jobless. Government witnesses before the Congressional Economic committee gave the smaller figure for the first week of January.

But Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said another way of adding up the unemployed would produce the larger figure.

The quarrel involves the number of persons who have left what the government calls "the labor force." These persons can't be counted as unemployed because they are no longer looking for work.

Douglas and Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) questioned whether the government wasn't making this figure too high and the jobless figure too low.

Not As Severe as 1949-50

Committee Chairman Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich.) asked the government witnesses if they used the same way of figuring as was used in 1939 and 1950 when — under Democratic administrations — unemployment hit peaks of 9,480,000 and 4,600,000. All said they did.

Meanwhile, Director Robert C. Goodwin of the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security testified that the government assumes unemployment will average 2,600,000 in the first half of this year.

But the said indications are "that the present adjustment period is not likely to be as severe as that for 1949-50." The unemployment average for the year ended June 30, 1950, was 3,700,000.

Marilyn Monroe Autographs Plaster Cast of POW

TOKYO (EP)—The last repatriated American war prisoner left for home today with Marilyn Monroe's autograph on a plaster cast covering half of his body.

Cpl. Donald Wakehouse of Woodbine, Iowa, who was repatriated last summer in "Operation Big Switch," took off for Travis Air Force Base, Calif., aboard an Air Force C-97 air evacuation plane.

Wakehouse feared he would miss his plane as he lay on a stretcher in Tokyo Army Hospital waiting for Miss Monroe to show up for the sendoff.

"I'd like to see her," the 22-year old soldier said. "But I don't want to miss that plane."

Miss Monroe arrived 30 minutes late because she had been prettying up at the Army beauty parlor for her special trip to the hospital. But Wakehouse said as far as he was concerned, she shouldn't have gone to all that trouble because Louise, his 20-year old wife back in Iowa, "looks better to me."

There are only two good harbors on Formosa—Keelung in the north and Kaohsiung in the south.

Million Aussies Cheer Elizabeth

SYDNEY, Australia (EP)—Police battled helplessly today with more than one million frenzied, cheering Australians who turned out to greet Queen Elizabeth II and her husband the duke of Edinburgh on their world tour.

The royal procession was stopped repeatedly. The white-helmeted police were engulfed by waves of celebrators who shouted:

"Good on you, Liz and Phil!"—the equivalent of the American "good for you!"

Motorcycle police had to plead with the crowd to open up and let the procession pass.

The Queen and the duke smiled and waved at the crowd. So deafening were the cheers at one point, in a reception without precedent in this country, that the duke put his hands over his ears.

Army Scuttles Errol Flynn Auction of Film 'Unmentionables'

FRANKFURT (EP)—The U. S. Army ruled a frothy nightie belonging to screen star Lauren Bacall was much too heady stuff for its fighting men and scuttled plans of actor Errol Flynn to auction it, and other "unmentionables" of screen lovelies to American service men. Flynn grumbled "military brass" Thursday night had forbidden him to stage his advertised public auction of "collectors' items" at a GI March of Dimes dance.

He said Miss Bacall's nightdress had been peddled, at a private sale, "for about $100" contributed to the polo campaign. He didn't say who bought it.

The New York City public library, which has 60 branches, is the largest in the United States.

Gov't, Congress Free Mail Costs $36 Million Year

WASHINGTON (EP)—It costs taxpayers about 36 million dollars a year to have mail delivered free for government officials and congressmen, it was disclosed today.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield submitted the estimate to a House appropriations subcommittee in seeking approval of $2,760,000,000 spending budget in fiscal 1955.

He said providing "franked" or free mail for congressmen costs the department about $1,700,000 to deliver. "Penalty" mail of other government officials around $35,300,000, he said.

Under a recent revision in postal laws, the department is "reimbursed" by other agencies for these expenditures. Summerfield lauded the change, saying it gives Congress a chance to "scrutinize the requests of various departments for sums which they ask for mailing costs."

The postmaster general also said fewer and fewer requests are being received to restore twice-a-day mail deliveries and "I think that it is not a matter of great concern now."

He suggested an independent commission be established to take over from Congress the job of fixing postal rates. Congressmen are so busy with other things that it is difficult "in fairness to the users of the mails, or themselves, to quickly and effectively decide on what rates should be."

Social Scientist Hits Lack of 'Zest for Work'

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Between 1929 and 1952 "lazy and stubborn" American workers increased from 10 per cent to over 20 per cent of the whole, a social scientist said today.

He wanted to know what happened to "the zest for work" of these workers—was it "gone" or was it in "hiding"? It wasn't "gone" entirely, he answered himself, but it was going to take a lot of looking to find it.

"Today the problem, to my mind, should be taken as seriously as our defense effort, because, if the majority of us become members of the 'lazy' group and worse, America cannot fail to suffer eventually the fate of 'lazy,' disillusioned France, which fell so easily before hard-working Germany," said Rexford Hersey, of the University of Pennsylvania.

"Boss" Loses Authority
Hersey conducted a scientific study of the on-job and off-job behavior and attitudes of groups of Pennsylvania railroad workers in 1927 and 1928. He repeated these studies in the same shops from 1950 through 1953. Comparisons of the two sets of results were the basis of his conclusions.

One big reason for the increase of the "lazy and stubborn" is that the "boss" has lost his authority—workers aren't afraid of the "boss" any more.

Nevertheless, he added, the attitudes of everyone have changed since 1929, and "conditions existing either in the body and mind of the individual or in his social and home environment can cause him to lose any zest for work he may have had to become a problem case."

Complex Problem
"The zest for work" is in "hiding" in the lazy workers, he said, because: (1) "There is no authority in industry that they feel is truly concerned with their well-being." (2) They have "little fear of punitive action—the foreman is afraid of the Veterans' Administration or undue union influence in the higher levels of the grievance machinery." (3) Lack of "a definite, clear-cut tie-in between increased reward and increased knowledge or production." (4) Lack of "real pleasure" in work and of "joy in accomplishment." (5) Lack of "obvious ideals."

Changing the attitudes of the "lazy" group was a "complex problem," he said. "Home, church, trade union, management, and the man himself" were all needed to do it.

Hersey has incorporated his studies in a book, "The Individual In Industrial Relations," which is to be published this year. He adapted a chapter of it for "Mental Hygiene," organ of the National Association for Mental Health.

LITTLE LIZ

Nowadays even if you keep your mouth shut, there'll probably be someone around who'll misquote you.

The Daily Register 25c a week by carrier boy.

THE STORY: Mistaken for Luke Usher, who ran away after the murder of Jake Usher, his father, Grete Marratt, a fugitive, has assumed the Usher identity. However, he is first wounded by an unseen gunman, and then Clint Gainer, another rancher, offers him first $5000, then $8000 for the title to the Usher ranch. Marratt learns that after Luke's disappearance, Wineglass, a ranch owned by Clem Ryerson, once accused by Luke of killing Jake, has taken the Usher name and has been using the land.

Marratt goes to Bella Loma and offers to sell some cattle at a low price to the Indian agent there.

Stanley Beckwith peered at Marratt uncertainly. The Indian Service was notoriously underpaid; if he could get these cattle cheap enough he could pad out his income by putting the difference in his pocket. "Are you willing to put it down in writing—you're the sole and legal owner of every steer you're offering to sell me?"

"I'm willing to produce local residents who have known me for upwards of 20 years and will vouch my right to dispose of the beef in question."

"What do you call 'cheap'?"

"Will you pay $7 a head?" Beckwith was starting to get up when worry dropped him back again. "The price was too low. You couldn't afford to sell steers of your own raising."

"I never said they were of my raising. As a matter of fact I have just come into them. I'm practically giving you these cattle because without your help I couldn't round them up nor attempt to make delivery. I'd have to borrow some of your Indians."

"Why couldn't we work it out this way? You send a crew down there and hold your own round-up. I'll be available to identify the cattle. When you've made your gather, drift them up here and pay me seven bucks a head for whatever you arrive with."

"I might take them at five."

"There are other agencies," Marratt reminded him.

Greed in Beckwith was still clawed by fear but he could see Marratt's price making weight in the balance. The man couldn't bear to think of losing such profit. He stood squirming and trembling on the verge of acceptance when a last jab from caution prodded him into asking "Where do I go for these cattle?"

"Vekol Wash, south and east of Bella Loma."

Beckwith looked like a sledge had struck him. His face turned green. His eyes bugged like they would roll off his cheekbones.

"That's Wineglass range!"

"They can't stop you from picking up Usher cattle."

"Usher!" Beckwith collapsed.

Marratt, fastening a hand in the front of his shirt, hauled him onto his feet. He cuffed Beckwith's face until some of the crazed terror fell out of the agent's stare. "Start working your jaws!"

"There—" Beckwith shuddered. "There aren't any Usher cattle."

Marratt already knew without Beckwith telling him that what hadn't died from natural causes had gone to stuff Indian bellies out of contracts filled by Clem Ryerson's Wineglass.

With a snort of disgust, Marratt flung the Indian agent away from him and stalked out.

How long he'd been riding or how far he had come to where he was now Marratt had no idea when the dog's growl riveted his horse in its tracks.

Marratt looked carefully at what the pup was holding. It seemed to be some kind of buckskin shirt. "Your boss," Marratt said, "is going to whale the hair off you." Alert for a rush he swung out of the saddle.

The big pup let go of the beautifully tanned leather and with a tentative tail wag proceeded cautiously to approach.

Then the pup put his panting face on Marratt's knee and, receiving the pleasurable touch of friendly fingers, rolled over to let the man scratch his chest. Marratt picked up the shirt. "We'd best take this thing back before somebody gets into trouble."

That suited the pup. He darted off through the trees. Marratt, following was unprepared for the blue-gray look of the gleaming tank which suddenly confronted him. He was even less prepared for the lovely figure splashing in it.

She was out in the middle and not in any mood to be reserving her opinions. "What do you think you're doing around here?"

Marratt felt like a fool. It was the girl from Beckwith's office. "Ma'am, I had no idea—"

"Then why did you follow me? Let go of my dress, you grinning hyena, and start making tracks!"

Marratt stared blankly at the fringed piece of buckskin. "I thought it was a shirt—a man's hunting shirt," he explained. "The dog—"

"What dog?"

The pup had vanished. He peered helplessly about, feeling and probably looking as big a hypocrite as she thought him.

Finally, in desperation, he told her how he'd encountered the dog and how he'd happened to arrive in this clearing, but he could see she wasn't believing a word of it.

"All right," she said when he'd finished, "what are you hanging around for now?"

He whirled in confusion, made a dive for the trees.

Marratt wasn't wanting any more of her tongue. He came out of the trees to find his horse looking at him with a palpable astonishment.

It wasn't till he started to swing into the saddle that he realized he still had her dress in his hand.

THOMAS ALVA EDISON
Born February 11, 1847; February is the birthday month of two other great Americans, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

The skilled hands of Thomas Edison recreate the incandescent light as Henry Ford, center, and Francis Juhl, right look on. The occasion was the celebration of Light's Golden Jubilee in 1929, at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Michigan.

Edison... ELECTRIFIED YOUR AMERICA

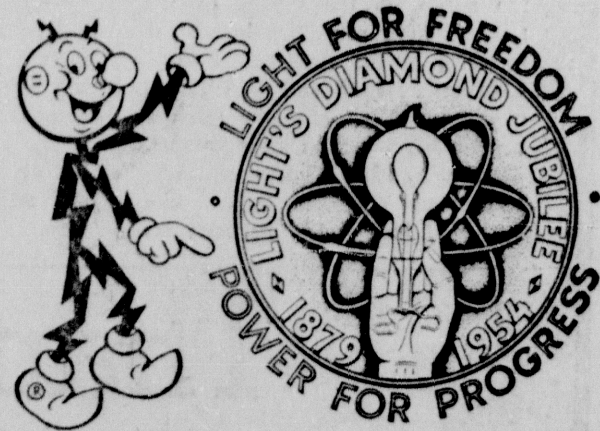

Yes, Thomas Edison did electrify your America. He began the Electrical Age, an age of breath-taking progress.

Seventy-five years ago, he gave the world the first practical incandescent lamp. To keep that lamp glowing, he planned and built the first complete electrical system powered from a central station. He established many of the fundamental principles that underlie modern power systems. Truly, Edison illuminated the path of progress with his inventions.

His goals were attained only through hard and patient work, by giving unselfishly of his great mental and physical resources. So it is with the electric industry he fostered.

The character of Thomas Edison remains the standard of our own efforts in providing efficient and low cost electric service for you.

BUNNY BREAD May Become Nation-Wide Symbol

American Bakers Coop Members
Came To See Bunny

BUNNY MAY BECOME NATION-WIDE SYMBOL

Bunny may Become Nation-Wide Symbol

The hopping "Bunny," well known trade mark for Bunny Bread, may soon be hopping across the nation as the symbol of the nation's most nutritious bread, if members of the American Bakers' Cooperative, Inc., and Jack Lewis of Bunny Bread of Anna reach a mutual agreement on arrangements.

Members of the board of directors of the American Bakers' Cooperative, Inc., with headquarters located in Teaneck, N. J., assembled in Chicago Sunday from many points in the nation and came to the home of Bunny Bread, for the purpose of discussing this nationwide plan with Jack Lewis.

Jack Lange, executive secretary for the Bakers' Cooperative, speaking for the organization, was high in praise of the bakery and its operation, stating that Bunny Bread Bakery is one of the most modern and efficient bakeries in the mid-west.

Bunny Bread Bakery has acquired quite a reputation for the rapid expansion of the bakery and for quality of products," said Mr. Lange. "Members of the Cooperative have been interested in inspecting the bakery and learning just how Mr. Lewis does this job so efficiently. We are considering the idea of nationalizing the trade-mark 'Bunny Bread' in our nation-wide organization."

"Bunny Bread brings a good loaf of bread to the tables of the midwest and the Bunny trade mark has become a dramatization to the public of a bread most desired through the spectacular characterization of a domesticated animal, the bunny, which is so well known to children.

"The Bunny Bread trade-mark, as it is flashed across the screen, as it appears on roadside signs and on dealers' buildings, has become the official identification of a loaf of bread which is unexcelled in nutritional value," stated Lange.

Mr. Lange pointed out that the secret of good merchandising is to create a character which will identify the product with the character, stating that Mr. Lewis' characterization of the bunny for this purpose has appealed to the imagination of children and has created a desire for Bunny Bread, a desire which resulted in a demand for Bunny Bread when once its excellent taste and nutritional value are realized.

Mr. Lange stated that if definite agreement is made with Mr. Lewis the "Bunny" trademark for Bunny Bread will be used throughout the nation wherever the American Bakers' Cooperative is represented, as advertisement for the best bread to be produced in the nation.

Lange explained that the Bakers' Cooperative is a non-profit organization formed for the benefit of all bakers, in order that they may cooperate with each other in the production of bread for the nation.

Participating in discussions on arrangements were the following members of the board of directors: C. W. Swanson, president, Worcester, Mass.; William D. McIntyre, vice-president, Eau Claire, Wis.; R. W. Payette, treasurer, Burlington, Vt.; John E. Lange, secretary, Teaneck, N. J.; George Enrich, Minneapolis, Minn.; C. S. Van Vlack, Auburn, N.Y.; Clem Harris, Johnston, Pa.; and Frederick B. Bryant, attorney, Ithaca, N.Y.

Jack Lewis of the Bunny Bread Bakery (extreme left) is shown above with visiting members of the board of directors of the American Bakers' Cooperative. If agreement can be reached between Jack Lewis and the Coop the fabulous Bunny Trademark will be used throughout the nation.

Ridgway and Muddy Meet in Dist. Finals

Dorrisville and New Shawneetown Are Eliminated

Ridgway and Muddy battled their way into the finals of the District Junior high basketball tournament last night by eliminating Dorrisville and New Shawneetown on the Equality grade school gym floor.

Dorrisville fell, 45-41, in a major upset, and Muddy barely stayed off a torrid New Shawneetown rally to win, 54-49.

Tonight, Dorrisville and New Shawneetown will tangle at 6:15 for consolation honors with the championship tilt between Ridgway and Muddy following at 7:30. Trophies will be presented the top three teams after the title game.

Ridgway's Potts proved unstoppable in the first encounter last night, as the Gallatin county quintet up-ended favorite Dorrisville. Potts connected for 13 fielders and six foul tosses—a total of 32 points.

Dorrisville led 10-7 at the quarter and 18-14 at half-time. Ridgway rallied in the third, but Dorrisville was still a one-point leader as the final frame opened. The score was 32-31. Ridgway outscored their opponents 14-9 in the last canto.

Muddy appeared on its way to an easy victory late in the third period, but a 21-point scoring spree in the final quarter almost carried New Shawneetown into the title game. Muddy led 12-9 at the quarter and 27-17 at the intermission. They were riding a comfortable 42-23 edge when New Shawneetown went into its rally.

RIDGWAY—Potts 32, Meyer 0, Sturgill 2, Milligan 3, Wilson 3, Sanders 0, Moye 5. DORRISVILLE—Eris 2, Stokich 20, Trail 5, Lyon 6, Simpson 8.

Oklahoma Aggies Defeat Wichita, 59-51; Kentucky Overwhelms Georgia, 106-55

NEW YORK (AP)—A whirlwind finish put the Oklahoma Aggies in the driver's seat in the tough Missouri Valley conference today while those two marvels from the bluegrass country, Kentucky and Western Kentucky, kept their unbeaten records rolling along.

The ball-hogging Aggies have won 16 of 18 free throws in their league an amazing 13 times in the last 18 seasons, but their rule was in grave danger Thursday night before they rallied in the last three minutes to down second place Wichita, 59-51, on Wichita's home court.

Wichita, beaten only twice in 20 previous games, could have taken over first place by winning and it seemed the Shockers would when they rallied from a five-point deficit to take a 51-50 lead with 2:50 left to play.

Tom Maloney came through with two clutch free throws to put the Aggies back ahead and Clayton Carter's layup made it 54-51. From there the Aggies pulled away to record their 18th win in 19 games. Kentucky Wins, 106-55

Six-foot, 11-inch Bob Mattick led the Aggies' attack with 21 points, but little Cleo Littleton of Wichita topped that with 24.

The Aggies now have a comfortable working margin in their league race with a 4-0 mark, compared to Wichita's 5-2. The Aggies currently are ranked fourth nationally and Wichita 18th.

Kentucky and Western Kentucky both won by wide margins to keep their places with Duquesne as the only major unbeaten teams in the nation.

Kentucky, ranked No. 1 nationally by the United Press Board of Coaches, had no trouble at all in romping to its 15th win, 106-55, over Georgia. The game, the Wildcats' 120th straight home court victory, was strictly no contest because Kentucky scored the game's first eight points and drove to a 25-12 first quarter lead. Frank Ramsey emerged high scorer for Kentucky with 29 points and the game set two Southeastern conference records: 1, 87 free throws attempted by both teams, and 2, 23 free throws missed by Georgia.

The victory gave Kentucky a tie with Louisiana State for first place in the league at 5-0.

Furman Beats Manhattan

Western Kentucky trailed until early in the third period before coming on to beat Stetson, 81-63. It was the 21st win of the year for the Hilltoppers, equalling the school's streak record. Western entered the final period with only a four-point lead but Tom Marshall, the game's top scorer with 29 points, blew it open with 16 points in that final frame.

Furman's Frank Selvy, the national scoring leader, made good in his New York appearance by setting a new season high for Madison Square Garden with 42 points to lead a 92-80 victory over Manhattan. Boosting his personal average to 38.6 points per game, Selvy

National League Lists Total of 239 Night Games

NEW YORK (AP)—The National league schedule for 1954 lists a total of 239 night games—23 more than last year—with only the "holy city" Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates failing to swing along with the trend toward increased arc-light contests.

Chicago, as usual, will play all its home games during the daytime, while Pittsburgh will play 28 night games, the same number as last season.

The Cardinals will play the heaviest schedule of night games at 13, an increase of 3 from last season. The Phillies are listed for 48 night games, 6 more than in 1953, while the Braves will play 33, an increase of 5.

In all, the National league clubs are scheduled to play 24 more night games than American league clubs, which are slated for 215.

The National league season opens April 13 and closes Sept. 26. Opening day games list Brooklyn at New York, Philadelphia at Pittsburgh, Chicago at St. Louis and Milwaukee at Cincinnati. The opener represents a radical departure for the Pirates, who invariably open on the road.

In the secondary openers, April 15, Pittsburgh is at Brooklyn, New York at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Milwaukee, and Cincinnati at Chicago.

The Cubs, Redlegs and Pirates lead in the amount of doubleheaders scheduled at home with 11 twin bills apiece. The Phillies are listed for 7, the Dodgers 6, the Braves 5, the Giants 4, and the Cardinals only 2.

As for holiday dates, on Memorial Day, Cincinnati is at Milwaukee, New York at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Chicago and Brooklyn at Philadelphia. Independence Day twin bills pit Philadelphia at New York, Brooklyn at Pittsburgh, Milwaukee at St. Louis and Chicago at Cincinnati.

Labor Day, Pittsburgh is at Brooklyn, New York at Philadelphia, Chicago at Milwaukee and Cincinnati at St. Louis.

Legion-VFW Team To Play All-Stars In Polio Benefit

A combined American Legion-V. F. W. basketball team will play the Southern Illinois All-Stars next Wednesday night in a polio benefit game at the Harrisburg Junior high gym.

A preliminary game will be played prior to this main event. State's Attorney Glen Jones will speak briefly between halves of the feature game. All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes.

Joey Giardello Is Favored Over Cartier Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight contender Joey Giardello, who has been adding wham to his whirlwind attack, was favored at 3-1 to beat veteran Walter Cartier again tonight in their return bout at Madison Square Garden.

Giardello of Philadelphia, No. 2 contender, hoped to demonstrate his new explosiveness in their nationally televised and broadcast 10-rounder.

Previously rated a comparatively light puncher, 23-year old Joey surprised the beak-busting gentry in his last start on Jan. 8 by stopping rugged Garth Panther in the fifth round. It was the first KO in Panther's career of 67 fights.

Panther, of Salt Lake City, went

Kentucky 106, Georgia 55. Western Kentucky 81, Stetson 63. Oklahoma A&M 59, Wichita 51. Duke 63, North Carolina 47. Xavier, O., 67, Loyola, La., 57. Dayton 66, Memphis State 59. St. Bonaventure 63, Seton Hall 60. Furman 92, Manhattan 80. Valparaiso 66, Indiana State 65.

the 10-round distance twice last year with 29-year old Cartier. He won the first decision but lost the second.

Giardello is seeking his 16th knockout in 63 fights. It's a reasonable quest, for Cartier has been stopped six times and disqualified once in 52 bouts.

Cartier has knocked out 23 of his 52 opponents. He lost 10 bouts and drew in one.

'Flying High' Opens Tonight At Carrier Mills

Everything is in readiness for the big opening performance of "Flying High" tonight at 7:30 in the Carrier Mills grade school gym. The home talent play is being presented by the Order of Eastern Star of Carrier Mills. The final performance will be held Saturday night.

"Flying High," hilarious 3-act comedy, has met with the most favorable response wherever it has been produced. Miss Joyce Stillwater, the director, who has had extensive experience in this type of work, is well pleased with the cast and is anticipating one of the finest productions she ever has directed.

"Flying High" is the story about a small hotel "Purdy's Last Resort," operated by Jeb T. Purdy and his orphaned granddaughter, Mary Lou Melford, played by Harry Fife and Ruby Kimmel. John Gibson has the part of Beulah Potts, outspoken colored maid at the hotel who "wishes the guests were relatives so we could insult 'em and they'd leave. Guests include Mrs. Augusta Van Sneerington—Mary Louise Martin—her "lithping" son Robert—Max Beasley—and Professor Boomer K. Barnsmeller—Kenneth Hart—who is on a top mission for the government, so secret he hasn't learned what is all about.

Aline Hart enacts the role of Gabby Hawkins, the nosey neighbor who knows everything that goes on—and tells it. Villain in the play is Titus Pinchem, played by Langly Kimmel and the hero is Ted Sterling, young inventor who is in love with Mary Lou, played by Jim Miller. Faye Hearn interprets the role of Betty Green, braggart young friend of Mary Lou.

Between-acts comedy and variety skits also add much to the show. A capacity crowd is expected this evening. Curtain is at 7:30 and the doors will be opened at 6:45.

Birthday Dinner Honors Mrs. Mary Harper

A group of friends gathered Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Mary Harper, the occasion being her birthday. The group brought covered dishes and gifts and at noon Mrs. Harper served a delicious dinner. She was assisted by Mrs. Maggie Hargrave and the large table was centered with a huge angel food cake baked by Mrs. Mary Edith Aydelott, and decorated with candles for each year.

Mrs. Blanch Aydelott gave the blessing and those present sang Happy Birthday and wished Mrs. Harper many more happy years. After blowing out the candles dinner was served. The afternoon was spent piecing on a flower garden quilt top and after the gifts were unwrapped and admired those present departed for their homes.

Those present were Mrs. Blanch Aydelott, Mrs. Effie Barnett, Mrs. Inez Gibbs, Mrs. Phoebe Church, Mrs. Dot Oxford and son, Lowell, Mrs. Pearl Haney and son, Bobbie, Mrs. Frances Justice of Harrisburg, Mrs. Hazel Driskell, Mrs. Mary Lee Adams, Mrs. Margaret Vinyard, Mrs. Mary Seton, Mrs. Maggie Hargrave, Mrs. Hazel Wathen and Mrs. LaVerne Hathaway and daughter, La Nell.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Oxford and sons, Charlie and Lowell, attended the birthday dinner Sunday of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Crabtree of New Shawneetown. Mrs. Crabtree celebrated her 100th birthday and all of her nieces and nephews and family were present except one niece who lives in Texas. She was contacted by long distance telephone and each one of the family spoke to her. Mrs. Crabtree received over 100 birthday cards and loads of presents and at noon a special cake was cut which was decorated with 100 candles.

Area Educators To Meet at SIU Saturday

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Two hundred area educators will convene at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, Feb. 6, at Southern Illinois university for an all-day conference on elementary education. The meeting is being sponsored by Southern in cooperation with three state organizations: Curriculum Program, Elementary School Principals' association, and Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development. Conference chairman is Troy Edwards, assistant principal of SIU's University school.

This conference is one of a series being held this year in various parts of the state.

The meeting, to be held in the university school auditorium, will deal with six aspects of a proposed coordinated elementary-secondary curriculum program.

Discussion will include these subjects: Developing an all-grade level "guide" to curriculum study; Developing materials for school to use for local self-study; Studying the problem of interscholastic competition; Developing ways and means of improving local leadership; Developing fact-finding studies basic to curriculum revision; and Studying the problem of psychological loads of teachers and pupils.

BIG TOWNER by Donnybrook

THE COSTUME LOOK

in three parts

$45

There's more to this than meets the eye . . . such careful tailoring of a delightful Spring Tonic that's three parts BIG TOWNER and all parts pure fashion! The tuxedo-look jacket of boucle checked wool coordinates perfectly with a sheath of sheer wool in two parts . . . slim skirt and short-sleeved blouse with a winsom little collar.

BIG TOWNER by DONNYBROOK

in season-hopping lacy wool

. . . all-weather Milium-lined

$49.95

Dream of a coat to take your mind off winter but keep you comfortably ahead of fashion now and later. Made of Anglo pouffle wool, it's warm but light . . . with its soft Milium lining that adjusts you and your coat to 'most any weather! The dramatic deep cuffs are adjustable — button them back to reveal inches of wrist, or let them down to meet shortie gloves. This beautifully tailored BIG TOWNER follows Spring's new tapered silhouette flowing from a deeply rounded back yoke.
